Course Description

A study of ecclesiology and sacraments (baptism and the Lord’s Supper)

Prerequisites

Students who are wondering as to the value of Systematic Theology to preaching should consult the following:

Course Objectives

The principal aim of the Systematic Theology courses is to provide students with a comprehensive understanding of the main doctrines of Christianity. Students should have a competent grasp of the issues involved and a facility to communicate them with some fluency. Some memorization is essential in this process. Theology is exegetical and historical, sociological and ecclesiastical, biblical and systematic. Tensions often arise when one aspect is stressed at the expense of another.

This is a course in systematic theology—concerned with the answer to a series of inter-related questions: What does the entire Bible teach on a specific issue? How have theologians of the past and present formulated this issue? Answers to these questions are often expressed confessionally, and many branches of the church require of their ordained clergy (teaching elders) a commitment to these doctrines in a more or less strict sense. Students ought to be able to handle themselves well in the modern debate over controversial issues. Many students will be examined on these doctrines in church courts and this objective will also be maintained. Additionally, all good theology should be doxological. Obedience in worship will be the chief objective of this course.

Note should be taken of the following quotations:

“There are theologians in the bottom of hell who are more interested in their own thoughts about God than in God himself.” [C. S. Lewis]

“Theology is the science of living blessedly for ever” [William Perkins, The Golden Chaine (1590), 1]

Students should achieve the following:

1. A basic familiarity with the traditional loci of Christian theology
2. Acquaintance with the history of Christian thought, particularly its Patristic, Protestant, Puritan (Westminsterian) and Modern phases.
3. Awareness of contemporary challenges to Christian orthodoxy and an ability to assess their strengths and weaknesses
4. Critical awareness of current trends in Christian theology
5. Familiarity with the tools and resources available for study of theological issues; and an ability to use these tools for independent research and analysis
6. A sense of theological proportion, enabling the student to distinguish between what is primary and what is secondary in Christian doctrine
7. The development of a respect for traditional theological formulations together with an ability to critically evaluate them

Theological Standpoint

The course will be taught from the standpoint of a personal commitment to the Westminster Confession of Faith (full disclosure of presuppositional bias!). In particular, it reflects the theology of sixteenth and seventeenth century theologians (students advocating separation rather than continuity in theological expression should read the 4-volumed work by Richard Muller, Post-Reformation Reformed Dogmatics 4 vols. (Baker, 2003), before challenging the professor about it!). In particular, students will detect a penchant for puritan theologians of the caliber of Owen, Manton, Sibbes and Charnock. Scottish sympathies abound, especially for William Cunningham (his view of Calvin on the Supper notwithstanding). Additional input will be evidenced from the Princetoniens (Warfield and Hodge), the wisdom of John Murray (his four-volume set of “complete writings” ought to be in every student’s library). As the professor gets older, greater recognition of theology’s Patristic roots are taking shape.

Teaching/Class Methodology

Lectures will cover all the major topics, but there will not be uniformity. Some topics are more important than others. Some topics are covered adequately in the reading material (when this is the case, it will be pointed out in class).

Course Requirements

I. READING

   Required Texts

   Careful reading is required of the following materials:

   John Calvin, Institutes of the Christian Religion (Westminster/John Knox, 1559 edition, Battles trans.), Book 4
Westminster Confession of Faith (25-31)
Avery Dulles, Models of the Church
David Wright (Ed.), Baptist: Three Views
Guy Waters, How Jesus Runs the Church?
Herman Bavinck, Reformed Dogmatics (One Volume)
Robert Letham, The Lord’s Supper: Eternal Word in Broken Bread

Weekly Quizzes
#1 Calvin Book 4, Chapters 1-5
#2 Dulles 1-6
#3 Dulles 7-13
#4 Waters
#5 Bavinck (One Volume) Part VI (Chapter 21)
#6 Calvin Book 4, Chapters 14-17
#7 Wright/Ferguson
#8 Bavinck (One Volume) Part VI (Chapter 22)
#9 Letham First Half

II. Evaluation
The course will be divided into three sections:

a. Quizzes (40%)

b. Paper (30%) – to be written on one of the following topics:
   i. Baptism
   ii. The Lord’s Supper

c. Final Exam (30%)
The examination will cover the entire material, including the reading material, and will test the student’s competence to integrate it into his overall theological skills. You may expect the examination to lengthy, requiring detailed knowledge.

d. Please note: all completed work relating to this course should be sent electronically to this address: dwhtcoursework@gmail.com and NOT to my RTS address. Emails which contain questions about the course should be sent as usual to my RTS address dthomas@rts.edu.

III. Extension Policy:
All assignments and exams are to be completed by the deadlines announced in this syllabus or in class.

Extensions for assignments and exams due within the normal duration of the course must be approved beforehand by the Professor. Extensions of two weeks or less beyond the date of the last deadline for the course must be approved beforehand by the Professor. A grade penalty may be assessed.

Extensions of greater than two weeks but not more than six weeks beyond the last deadline for the course may be granted in extenuating circumstances (i.e. illness, family emergency). For an extension of more than two weeks the student must request an Extension Request Form from the Student Services Office. The request must be approved by the Professor and the Academic Dean. A grade penalty may be assessed. (RTS Catalog p. 42 and RTS Atlanta Student Handbook p. 14)

Any incompletes not cleared six weeks after the last published due date for course work will be converted to a failing grade. Professors may have the failing grade changed to a passing grade by request. (RTS Catalog p. 42)
