Course description:
This course introduces the student to exegetical, theological, historical, and practical aspects of ministry. Students are equipped to use the practice of ministry as the integrating concept for all their theological studies.

Goals:
1. Introduce students to the main theme of their ministerial studies: they are preparing to be pastoral leaders.
2. Offer a basic biblical-theological framework for thinking about the work of pastoral leadership.
3. Orient students to a way of seeing the work of pastoral leadership, merging together a classic Reformed paradigm of the ministry of the Word with a more recent systems approach.
4. Prepare students for thinking about processing conflict and hurt within a larger Reformed biblical-theological paradigm.
5. Assist students in thinking through their own call to pastoral leadership and prepare them to articulate that before presbytery committees.

Required texts:
David Mathis and Jonathan Parnell, How to Stay Christian in Seminary (Crossway, 2014); ISBN: 978-1433540301
Recommended reading:
Bob Burns, Tasha Chapman, and Donald C. Guthrie, Resilient Ministry: What Pastors Told Us About Surviving and Thriving (IVP, 2013)
Margaret Craven, I Heard the Owl Call My Name (Dell, 1973).
Paul David Tripp, Dangerous Calling: Confronting the Unique Challenges of Pastoral Ministry (Crossway, 2012).

Requirements and Grading:
1. Regular attendance and class participation (15%). Since we have only 13 meeting times, you will only be allowed to miss one class without it adversely affecting your grade.
2. Reading (50%). You will be required to read 100% of the required texts. On the last day of class, you will be asked how much of the assigned readings you have read.
3. Reflection papers (35%). You will write five reflection papers, one on each of the books. In addition, you will submit a two-four page paper at the end of class on Christian experience and call to ministry.
4. Grading scale (standard RTS scale):

As part of our purpose to train servants of the triune God to walk with God in all of life, we expect godly integrity in the academic work done at RTS. God’s covenant with His people calls for honesty and a commitment to truth (as in the 9th commandment). As we live in that covenant and in community with one another, upholding truth is an essential duty. Specifically applied to academic labors, this means that we accurately represent our work to others. In other words, neither cheating nor plagiarism is tolerated.

Instructions on particular assignments:
1. Reflection papers (1 page each)
   a. For each reflection paper, you will respond to the book assigned by answering the following question: in what ways does/should this book shape my approach to preparation for and engagement in ministry?
   b. Do not write more than one page.
c. The reflection paper will be written with one inch margins, double-spaced, 12 point Times Roman font.

d. The reaction paper will be due by the beginning of class time; no late papers will be accepted. If you will not be at the particular class time, you will need to submit your paper in advance.

e. Please do not email your paper; it is your responsibility to get a hard-copy of the paper to the instructor.

f. The grade is pass/fail; if you follow instructions completely (including form requirements stated in line b), you will receive the full amount of points (signified by a check mark). If you fail to follow instructions, then the instructor will determine how many points are appropriate.

2. Christian experience/call to ministry papers (2-4 pages)

a. This is a two-part paper:

   1) Part one: give a brief description of your Christian experience, highlighting how you came to Christ, your experience of following him, and your present devotional practices (1-2 pages).

   2) Part two: give a brief description of your sense of calling to Christian ministry and why you want to do ministry in your particular denominational context (1-2 pages).

b. This paper will be written with one inch margins, double-spaced, 12 point Times Roman font.

c. The paper will be due by Friday, December 5, 2014, at 4pm; no late papers will be accepted.

d. Please do not email your paper; it is your responsibility to get a hard-copy of the paper to the instructor.

e. The grade is pass/fail; if you follow instructions completely (including form requirements stated in line b), you will receive the full amount of points (signified by a check mark). If you fail to follow instructions, then the instructor will determine how many points are appropriate.
