

GUIDE TO LIBRARY RESOURCES AND SERVICES

rts.edu/academics/library/

Digital Library Resources

The New York campus does not have a physical library, but RTS offers electronic resources to support your research.

The Ebsco and ProQuest eBook Collections contain core reference titles, commentaries, and specialized scholarly manuscripts. The ATLA Religion Database contains thousands of full-text religion and theology journals. These resources are linked on the RTS library website, and an rts.edu username and password are required. You can also request scanning and mailing of print items from other RTS campuses by contacting the librarian.

Finally, the New York Public Library offers extensive print and digital resources for theological research, including JSTOR, Oxford Handbooks Online, Brill Online, and Early English Books Online: libguides.nypl.org/Religion. For more information and research tips, see the NYPL guide to remote research: libguides.nypl.org/remoteresearch.

E-Book Collections

Thousands of reference and scholarly books are available in the Ebsco and ProQuest e-book collections (more info: rts.libguides.com/ebooks)

Electronic Journals

2,400+ philosophy and religion journals are available in the ATLA Religion Database, linked on the library website

Interlibrary Loan

Contact the librarian to request scanning and mailing of print items from RTS campus libraries

KIMBERLEY STEPHENSON

Librarian
RTS DC and NYC

(703) 448-3393 x5113
kstephenson@rts.edu