Course Description
This course will systematically present biblical teaching on the topics of Christology, Soteriology, and Eschatology as understood and taught within the Reformed tradition, demonstrating that these formulations (1) represent the proper understanding of Scripture, (2) inherit and carry forward the best of the ancient teachings of the Church, and (3) provide the people of God the doctrine needed in order to thrive as disciples of the Lord Jesus Christ in the twenty-first century.

Course Objectives
1. To base all of our theology of the Christology, Soteriology, and Eschatology in God’s revelation in Scripture.

2. To enable the student to better grasp related doctrines through familiarity with their exegetical and theological foundations, while also being acquainted with both relevant historical and contemporary discussions, so that they can clearly and confidently communicate them in preaching, teaching, and counseling.

3. To explore and appreciate the confessional expressions concerning these doctrines within the Reformed tradition, especially in the Westminster Standards.

Extra Credit

Requirements

1. Attend and be ready to participate in every class.

2. Complete the required reading for each week.

3. Weekly Reading Response (10%)
   Students will upload to Canvas by noon of the day before class meets (Monday) a document containing two elements: (1) three quotes from the week’s required reading, which you found interesting or challenging. You are also to provide (2) a 200 word response (approximately 12 typed lines) to one of the three listed quotes. The quote should not be included in the response. This response is an opportunity to interact with the idea and/or author in a critical (positive or negative or questioning) manner.

4. Reading report (20%)
   Attached to the second exam, students will turn in a reading report stating the percentage of the assigned readings that they have read with reasonable care over the course of the semester.

5. Term Paper (30%)
   Students will write a 12-17 page term paper (typed and double-spaced, with appropriate footnoting and bibliography in Turabian style) on one of the topics treated in the course. Make sure you (1) present a clear thesis; (2) have a proper introduction and conclusion and a clear structure for your essay; (3) deal with the relevant information competently and fairly to all sides; (4) where necessary, engage primary sources; (5) offer critical analysis (and not merely summary) of the positions and views you engage; (6) where relevant, consider the implications and significance of your investigation for the life of the church; and (7) use at least 10 scholarly sources. If it would be helpful, please consult with the professor on initial bibliography. Your paper should be on one of the following topics:
   a. The Person of Christ in biblical perspective: One of the most promising developments in New Testament studies is the “Early High Christology” movement. Major players in this movement include Richard Bauckham and Larry Hurtado. Engage this movement, or one of its proponents, discussing both its potential contributions and shortcomings for developing a biblical understanding of the Person of Christ.
   b. Christological heresy: What is an ancient Christological heresy that continues to manifest itself? Explain this heresy theologically (including biblical texts to which it might have appealed), how the early Church addressed it, and ways it continues to have life in the understanding of some Christians. Include in your evaluation how this heresy has a deleterious effect in accurately presenting the biblical picture of, and bringing honor to, Christ.

c. Jesus Christ’s Humanity: Was it necessary, as some theologians have said (Karl Barth, TF Torrance, Edward Irving, etc.), that the humanity Christ assumed be “fallen”? Evaluate this position biblically and theologically. Through consultation with the professor, you could also explore some other aspect of Christ’s humanity.

d. “He descended into hell”: Examine this line from the Apostles Creed exegetically and theologically. Compare and contrast Calvin’s and the Heidelberg Catechism’s position with that of the Westminster Confession of Faith. See also John Frame’s discussion in his recent Systematic Theology. Which position best accounts for specific Scriptural texts (Acts 2, Ephesians 4, 1 Peter 3 and 4 etc.).

e. “Incarnational Ministry”: Theologically evaluate this increasingly popular ministry model. Use tools such as orthodox Christology, the doctrine of Union with Christ, and the ministry of the Holy Spirit in order to weigh whether this model presents a biblical framework for the ministry of the Church in the world.

f. The doctrine of justification: In recent years, certain Protestant scholars and pastors have challenged the traditional Protestant doctrine of justification, suggesting that the Reformers misunderstood Paul’s teaching on this topic. Engage one of these contemporary critics (e.g., N. T. Wright, James D. G. Dunn, a proponent of the “Federal Vision”) and respond to their criticisms in light of biblical exegesis and the Reformed confessions.

g. The relationship between justification and sanctification: What is the relationship between these two crucial doctrines? How do you demonstrate their relationship exegetically? How do they “fit together” theologically? How should they be brought to bear and emphasized in counseling and/or preaching?

h. The doctrine of the atonement: Has the reformed tradition overemphasized penal substitutionary atonement? Is this doctrine equivalent to “divine child abuse,” as some have suggested? Are there other biblical models of the atonement that deserve our attention? If so, how should they be situated vis-à-vis substitutionary atonement?

i. The Holy Spirit and eschatology: How does the Holy Spirit giving of resurrection life relate to eschatology? How does this connect creation/Eden, the Temple, Christ/Church, and the New Creation? How does this work out personally and in the Church?

j. The nature of hell: Contemporary evangelicals continue to debate both the possibility and nature of eternal punishment. Debated questions include: Who goes to hell, if anyone? How does our understanding of hell relate to our understanding of God’s love and of Christ’s atoning work? What is the nature of hell? Does hell involve eternal conscious punishment, or does hell simply annihilate unbelievers?

k. Other topics/questions may be chosen in consultation with the professor.

Due: May 7th
6. Exams (40%)
Students will take two exams which will test your grasp of doctrinal topics covered in class lectures and readings as well as your ability to communicate doctrinal topics in a clear and cogent manner. The Midterm covers the first half of the course, and the Final covers the second half.

*Midterm Exam: March April 1-5 ~ *Final Exam: May 16-21

Class Policies

1. On Laptops and Smartphones in Class

It is my recommendation that you take notes by hand using the hardcopy outlines I will provide before class. If you have a strong inclination to use your laptop, please put your word processing program in “full screen” mode or use the “do not disturb” function so that other applications on your computer do not grab your attention (Facebook, Twitter, etc.).

Please keep your smartphone in your pocket on vibrate. If you do not have a pocket, please put it facedown on your desk. Only check them on breaks or if you are receiving repeated notifications indicating an emergency.

2. Internet Policy

RTS Charlotte recognizes how essential it is for students to have reliable, campus-wide access to the internet. For that reason, we have made Wi-Fi available for our student body, not only in the library and student lounges, but also in the classrooms. We know that students need to use the internet to download class materials, access files on the Cloud, and locate other important information. However, we also recognize that internet access in the classroom provides opportunity for abuse and misuse. Some students have unfortunately used their internet access to engage in many activities that distract them from the classroom lectures (e.g., surfing the web, checking sports scores, playing games). Not only does such activity hamper a student’s own seminary education, but it distracts other students who can easily view the screens of nearby students. In addition, donors and classroom guests (who often sit in the back) can see this inappropriate internet usage, which reflects poorly on RTS. Classroom etiquette includes leaving cell phones turned off, refraining from surfing the Internet or playing computer games or other distracting activities. In addition, students must respect standards set by individual professors regarding the use of technology during their class.

In order to address this issue, we must appeal to the integrity of the students as ones who are preparing for a lifetime of ministry to Christ and his church. We expect each student to take personal responsibility for proper classroom technology usage and to encourage others around them to do the same. All RTS-Charlotte students are accountable to the policies stated in the Student Handbook and Academic Catalog and are therefore expected to use technology in the classroom only for appropriate class-related activities. Student conduct is under the supervision of the Dean of Students.

3. Procedures for taking your Midterm Exam:

   a. Install the LockDown Browser application on the computer you intend to use for exams, prior to sitting for the exam, using this link: https://download.respondus.com/lockdown/download.php?id=998253613
      - This link is ONLY for RTS students and covers Mac and Windows applications.
      - Be sure that you are able to login to your Canvas account from the LockDown Browser before scheduling a time to take your exam.
      - The LockDown Browser application is already installed on the computers in the RTS Charlotte library. (Note that if you elect to use the library computers, your proctor must still be present throughout the duration of the exam.)
      - If you use internet filtering software (for example, Covenant Eyes) you should disable it before beginning an exam with LockDown Browser. Some types of filtering software can block your computer’s connection to Canvas. Also, please be sure to add an exception for our Canvas URL: https://rts.instructure.com

   b. Make arrangements with a proctor to supervise the exam within the date timeframe set by the professor. The proctor cannot be a family member, current RTS student (current = taken a class within the past year but not yet graduated), or member of the library staff. Typical proctors are pastors or church staff members. For your convenience, there will be several on-campus proctor blocks where a proctor will be available to supervise your exam. Dates and times will be posted on Canvas and announced in the weekly Semper.

   c. The proctor must observe student taking exam and ensure that there are no devices or resources available other than the computer being used for the exam.

   d. Access the exam during the date window specified for that midterm:
      i. Start the LockDown Browser application using a wired or known reliable WIFI connection. We do not recommend using restaurant or coffee shop WIFI to take exams.
      ii. Have your student ID number available to input into the exam.
      iii. If you use internet filtering software, you should disable it before beginning an exam with LockDown Browser.
iv. Login to your Canvas account using your Self-Service username and password. If you need to reset your Self-Service password, you may do so at https://selfservice.rts.edu.

v. Navigate to the exam. You will not be able to access the exam with a standard web browser. For additional details on using LockDown Browser, review this Student Quick Start Guide (PDF).

vi. Time clock will begin once you open the exam.

vii. Exam must be completed in one sitting. You may not exit and return to exam later.

viii. The exam will contain questions requiring the proctor contact information, an honor pledge, and certification that your proctor was present during the entire exam period.

ix. The proctor must confirm completion at the end of the exam by emailing proctor.charlotte@rts.edu, including the Course Name & Student Name in the email subject line. There is a question in the exam which will prompt you to ask your proctor to send this email.

x. Proctors may be contacted to verify information regarding exam administration.

xi. In the rare case of a technical issue (for example, if internet service goes out during exam), the proctor should contact the course TA. While the TA’s may not be immediately available, the date and time of the email will document when the issue was reported. Please have your TA’s contact information available for your proctor before opening the exam. Once you open the exam using the LockDown Browser, you will not be able to access other programs on your computers.
