The Texts

The following books are required:

Michael Allen and Scott R. Swain (eds.), Christian Dogmatics: Reformed Theology for the Church Catholic (Grand Rapids: Baker Academic, 2016), pages 107-125, 216-290, 363-391. ISBN 9780801048944.

Cyril of Alexandria, On the Unity of Christ (Popular Patristics Series 13; Crestwood, NY: St. Vladimir's Seminary Press, 1995), pages 49-133. ISBN 9780881411331.

John Calvin, Institutes of the Christian Religion (1559 Edition). We will read select portions: bk. 2, chs. 10-17; bk. 3, chs. 1-3, 11-13.

The best edition is published by Westminster John Knox Press, edited by John T. McNeill, and translated by Ford Lewis Battles (ISBN 978 0664220280). You only need volume 1. The translation by Henry Beveridge is also acceptable and published by Hendrickson (ISBN 978 1598561685).

Do not purchase abridged versions or editions from years other than the 1559 edition (e.g. don't get the 1541 edition), as they will be missing massive amounts of the book.

Michael Allen, Grounded in Heaven: Recentering Christian Hope and Life on God (Grand Rapids: Eerdmans, 2018). ISBN 9780802874535.

John Webster, The Culture of Theology (Grand Rapids: Baker Academic, 2019), pages 43-147. ISBN 9781540960801.

Supplementary PDF readings will be available on Canvas and will be required on various weeks (as noted).

The Assignments

The student is required to complete the following four assignments in whole:

(1) Attendance

Attendance is required, and absences will involve a penalty.

(2) Reading

Reading must be completed before each class meets. Class discussions will focus on readings, so you must be prepared to talk.

Theology is an activity done largely through the process of good reading. Read carefully. Read charitably. Read with others. Read with the expectation that you will learn from others, even when you disagree with their main point. Read even when a text is dense and difficult, for you will learn perseverance and fortitude here. Read that which seems trite and obvious, asking how others might object or criticize. Most importantly, read because God was willing to reveal himself in written words, and because we can best witness to God's grace with corresponding words. Read because words matter in God's economy of grace.

Remember: reading is an active exercise, a conversation in which you participate.

(3) Reading Briefs

Students are expected to prepare a brief on what has been read (the professor specifies which chapter or book selection each week). The purpose of the brief is to summarize the thesis, outline, and argument of that chapter, as well as to state one's own analysis of it (in the form of questions, confirmations, objections, etc.). Briefs may include quotations from various points in the chapter (so long as page numbers are referenced). An example is provided on Canvas. Briefs should be no more than 350 words.

Briefs will be submitted on Canvas, and the professor will reply with a question regarding that brief. Students will then respond briefly to that question.

(4) Final Research Paper

Students will write a research paper on one topic discussed in class readings or lectures. The student will demonstrate familiarity with major literature and will show competence in dealing fairly with that material. We will discuss the paper over the course of the final weeks of the term, taking incremental steps to preparing for it (e.g., picking a topic, developing a question, finding relevant and helpful sources, developing a thesis, creating an outline). The last class before it is due will be spent in significant group discussion of your research and outlining. The paper should be 2000-2500 words.

Final papers are due on May 19 by 11:00 a.m. They are to be submitted on Canvas.

Rules for Final Paper

Final papers will be docked for poor grammar and style. Edit carefully. Read and re-read what you have written. Ministry involves communication, so you should hone your speech even as you learn theological substance.

Note: I highly recommend that you read your paper backwards, sentence by sentence. This will force you to see that each sentence has a subject and predicate, that they they agree, etc.

Do not go over the word limit for any written assignments. I assign a particular length to be followed by all. A good thinker will have more information than can be said in the limit, but a good writer will be able to distill and shorten.

Note: I will stop reading your work when it reaches the word limit. If you keep going, I will toss this out and read your paper as if it has no conclusion (something which will certainly lower your grade).

Academic Honesty (adapted from Dr. Timothy Phillips of Wheaton College)

1. The assignments are designed to extend and deepen your comprehension and appreciation of Christian theology and to increase your facility with theological method. The processes of defining a topic, researching the results of others' studies, critiquing those studies, and organizing your conclusions in a clear and cogent presentation provides valuable skills for your various leadership ministries. The use of sources is an essential step in appropriating the learning of the Church's tradition in its relationship to cultures to help us understand and faithfully practice Scripture.
2. Using information obtained from a source without indicating it (whether by footnote, parentheses, or bibliography or some other appropriate reference, depending on the type of assignment) is plagiarism (intellectual thievery and lying). This applies to any information that you gain from someone that is not “common knowledge.” It does not apply only to exact quotations or precise verbal allusions. Altering the wording does not remove the obligation to acknowledge the source.
3. Cheating is the presentation of someone else’s work, which the student ought to have done personally. This includes submitting answers to test questions derived by some means other than that intended by the instructor. It also includes turning in written assignments composed in whole or in part by someone else.
4. Cheating or plagiarism results in the immediate failure of the entire course. Further disciplinary action may be taken as well.

Computer Policy (Modified from Dr. Alan Jacobs of Baylor University)

Computers, tablets, and smart-phones are not allowed in class. Think I’m over-reacting? Think you’re a master of multitasking? You are not. No, I really mean it. How many times do I have to tell you? Notes taken by hand are almost always more useful than typed notes, because more thoughtful selectivity goes into them; plus there are multiple cognitive benefits to writing by hand. And people who use laptops in class see their grades decline — and even contribute to lowering the grades of other people.

The Grading Structure

Grades are apportioned as follows:

Reading and Reading Briefs	1/2
Final Paper	1/2

Grades may be adjusted based on issues regarding attendance and participation in class.
