Course Description:

00NT6500 The Origin and Authority of the New Testament Canon, 2 hours

Lecturing Professor and Professor of Record:

Dr. Michael J. Kruger

This course will survey the historical development of the New Testament Canon within the context of the early Church, with special attention given to citations in the Church Fathers, manuscript collections, and canonical lists. In addition, the course will evaluate the various theological approaches to the issue of canon and the implications it has on one's view of Scriptural authority.

Course Objectives:

- To gain familiarity with the history of the NT Canon
- To become acquainted with the main theological approaches to the authority of the canon
- To understand the patristic and textual evidence for the development of the canon
- To understand and articulate the Reformed autopistic approach to canon and biblical authority

Required Textbooks:

Forum Discussions (15%):

The student is required to interact in two (2) forums:

1. Student-Professor Posts (15 total posts)
 - A. Personal Introduction Forum: The student is required to post a brief personal introduction to the professor/class. Suggested details include your vocation, where you live, your church background, why you chose RTS, and what you hope to gain through the course (1 required post).
 - B. 5 Topical Discussion Q&A Forums: The student is required to answer each topical discussion question with one (1) response. The professor will acknowledge the student's answer and will follow up with a subsequent question to which the student must also answer with one (1) response. Each topical discussion question, therefore, requires two (2) total posts/responses from the student (Total of 5 forums x 2 posts = 10 total posts).
 - C. Student-Professor Forum: The student is required to post four (4) times in this forum. Posts in this forum should focus on course-related content such as research paper topics, lectures and reading assignments, or other academic issues related to the course.
2. Student-Student Forum (5 total posts)

A post may be either a new topic or a response to an already existing topic.

Examinations (Midterm 15%, Final 15%):

There are two examinations for this course. The midterm examination will cover the lectures from Lesson One (1) through Lesson Four (4). The final examination will cover the lectures from Lesson Five (5) through Lesson Ten (10), not including Lesson Seven (7). The student should use the Lesson Questions at the end of each lesson in preparation and study for the exam. The format for the each exam is multiple choice, short essay, and long essay.

The exams for this course are to be taken online in the Learning Management System (LMS). Please note that you will need to have a proctor for your exams. Your proctor can be anyone except a relative or current RTS Student. After clicking on the exam link you will be given detailed instructions about the exam. Please read these instructions carefully before entering the exam.

Canon Paper (35%):

The student is required to write a fictional dialogue, approximately 10 typed pages in length with page numbers. The paper must follow the guidelines in the current edition of A Manual for Writers of Term Papers, Theses, and Dissertations, by Kate L. Turabian. See section titled "Canon Paper Instructions" in this syllabus for more instructions.

Reading Report (10%):

The student must complete all of the required reading. Reading assignments are broken down week by week within the LMS. The Reading Report will indicate the amount of required reading that has been completed during the semester and must be filled out and submitted at the end of the course.

Greek Manuscripts Quiz (5%):

Lesson Seven (7) is a 4-part video of students reading from the Greek manuscript of p66 with professor comments on the content and characteristics of the manuscripts. The quiz will focus on the general content and characteristics discussed in the videos. Knowledge of Greek is not necessary to successfully complete the quiz. This material will not appear on the final exam.

Mentor Report OR Course Application Paper (5%):

If you are enrolled in an RTS Global degree or certificate program, you are required to submit a mentor report at the end of the course. Every portion of the form (goals, summaries, assessments, and signatures) should be filled out completely by both the student and the mentor to receive full credit. You can download the Mentor Report form in your Canvas classroom.

If you are receiving your degree through another RTS campus (Orlando, Jackson, Charlotte, et. al.) or special student (e.g. from another seminary), you are asked to write a 200-word summary of how you perceive what you have learned in this course will fit into the objectives you have for your ministry, your educational goals, or other objectives you wish to achieve in life. Course Application Papers (CAP) that fall well-short of 200 words will receive a grade deduction.

Assignments:

Best practice for your time management is for you to submit all assignments at the end of the week in which they fall, using the upload links provided in the LMS. All work must be submitted by midnight of the course end date, per your course start letter. You are responsible for turning in all assignments on time; no late submissions are permitted. Any student who needs an extension must get approval from the Registrar prior to that time.

Canon Paper Instructions

Write a fictional dialogue between two individuals contrasting different theological approaches to canon (e.g., Reformed vs. Catholic, Reformed vs. Neo-Orthodox, etc.). Dialogue should demonstrate knowledge of a Reformed approach to defending the canon. The student should also represent the opponent's best arguments. Although not a research paper, per se, you should incorporate the required readings (and other research you may do) into the paper. Creativity, originality, and profundity are rewarded. The paper should have footnotes (not endnotes) and resemble the articles found in the standard journals; e.g., JBL, JTS, JETS, NTS, etc.

The paper must follow the guidelines in the current edition of A Manual for Writers of Term Papers, Theses, and Dissertations, by Kate L. Turabian . It should be 1.5 spaced with 12 point font and also include a bibliography.
